DIAZ PROCLAIMS SELF PRESIDENT OF MEXICO AFTER REBELS DRIVE MADERO FROM CAPITAL

MUTINY CAUSES REBELS' VICTORY

Federal Troops in Capital Revolt and Leave President Nearly Defenseless

GENERAL REYES MEETS DEATH

"Brains" of Revolution Is Killed in First Attack Upon the Palace Gates

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Four American warships will be sent to Mexican ports to exercise a "moral force" for protection of American lives and property, should the Diaz revolution in Mexico City spread throughout the republic.

It was said this afternoon that two vessels would be sent to Vera Cruz, one to Tampico and the cruiser Denver, now at Acapulco, would be ordered to remain there indefinitely. The vessel available for immediate dispatch to those ports are the gunboat Nashville, which left New Orleans early today; the gunboat Wheeling and the cruiser Des Moines.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Feb. 10.—It was reported at the fort here this afternoon that orders were received to hold all troops in readiness to depart at once for the Mexican border. The commanding officer would neither confirm nor deny the report.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—Colonel Felix Diaz, nephew of former President Porfirio Diaz, this afternoon proclaimed himself provisional president of the republic of Mexico. Diaz followed up his proclamation with a public statement denouncing President Francisco I. Madero as "an enemy of the republic."

Dismayed by the sudden capture of Mexico City by mutinous federal troops headed by Felix Diaz, whom he recently put in prison under sentence of death, Francisco I. Madero, himself holder of the presidential chair by reason of a successful revolution against Porfirio Diaz, has fled from the capitol. His whereabouts is unknown, but it is thought he and his family are making for the east coast, planning to leave Mexico.

Cadets Release Diaz

Events started yesterday, when cadets from a military school released Diaz and General Bernardo Reyes, both sentenced to death for their part in the Vera Cruz uprising last fall. Agents had been at work among the federal troops, and when Diaz appeared at the head of the cadets they flocked to his standard. Within a few hours they had the capital completely in their power.

Gen. Bernardo Reyes, joint leader of the revolt with Col. Felix Diaz, was killed in the first encounter between the mutineer and the palace defenders. Seasoned warrior and veteran of many fierce encounters, Gen. Reyes was considered the most capable man in Mexico to lead a successful uprising against the Maderists.

Madero Meets Attackers

The uprising came with a suddenness that amazed and stunned the city. Madero on horseback at the

DELAFIELD, Wis., Feb. 10. —"Please keep my brother at school. He will not be needed here."

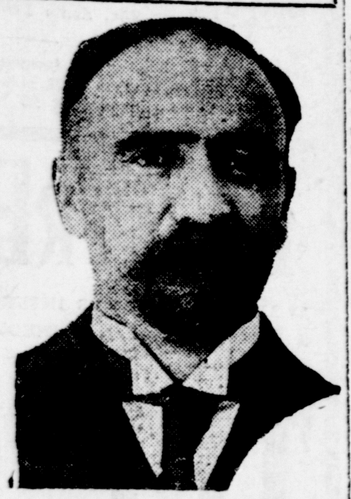

The above telegram received by the commander at St. John's Military academy today dashed the hopes of Carlos Madero, 18, that he would be able to "get into the war game" at Mexico City, where his elder brother, Francisco is fighting for his life.

Young Madero today expressed greatest surprise at the outbreak in the Mexican capitol.

"In a personal letter less than a week ago, Francisco assured me the revolt had been practically stamped out. I have faith that Francisco will triumph," he said. "He is what you Americans call a 'going concern,' 'a live wire,' and 'some fighter.'"

MRS. CLEVELAND QUIETLY MARRIED

Widow of President and Prof. T. J. Preston Wed at Home of Princeton College Head

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 10.—With only members of the immediate families and a few close friends present, Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland, widow of President Grover Cleveland, and Thomas J. Preston, Jr., a professor of Wells college, were married here today at the home of President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university. President Hibben performed the ceremony.

Owing to the desire of Mrs. Cleveland to avoid crowds, an attempt was made to keep the wedding a secret until tomorrow. Those at the Cleveland home made flat denials that the wedding had taken place, an hour after the ceremony.

Because of the recent illness of Professor Preston, who is a member of the faculty of Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., the wedding was very simple. The bride is 48 and the bridegroom 50.

It is stated that Professor and Mrs. Preston will leave today for Florida.

SMITH SAID TO BE COMING

A dispatch from Milwaukee today contained the announcement that Clement C. Smith, receiver of the La Crosse Water Power company had left Milwaukee for La Crosse this morning "to complete the consolidation of the La Crosse Water Power, the Winona Street Car and the La Crosse City Railway companies." Mr. Smith has not yet registered at any of the hotels nor been seen in the office of the street car company or the water power company headquarters. He may get in on the five o'clock train.

QUO WARRANTO IS ANDERSON'S PLAN

Will Start Proceedings Questioning Ekern's Right to the Office

GOVERNOR MEETS ANOTHER CHECK

Court Agrees to Leave Restraining Order in Force Until February 18

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 10. — Because the appeal in the McGovern-Ekern controversy that has been made by Attorney John A. Aylward will only test a legal point in the case and not go into the merits, it is said here today that L. A. Anderson's attorneys may start an independent action in the supreme court within a few days. This legal step will be made in the form of quo warranto, which is an action by which the title to an office can be tested.

Extend Restraining Order

Ekern's notice of appeal Saturday resulted in Judge Stevens, of circuit court, refusing to dissolve for ten days the temporary restraining order granted the Ekern forces when Anderson tried to force his way into the office of insurance commissioner and eject the incumbent. The court agreed to allow the order to remain in force until February 18, when the supreme court meets, and Ekern's attorneys can perfect their appeal. If the appeal is not made at the expiration of the period, the restraining order will be automatically dissolved.

Another form of legal action at the disposal of Anderson's attorney is a mandamus action to gain possession of the books and records of the office. This action would also raise the question of the title to the office and would require the court to pass upon it before entering a decree. The reason for starting the action at once is based on the ground that should Ekern win his contention in the supreme court on the legal point involved it would take months before the case could again be slated on the supreme court calendar for settlement of the title to the office.

Will Butler Collect?

Other legal complications in the case are now generally forecasted. It is known here that citizens have asked Secretary of State John Donald if he intends to pay H. L. Butler on a state warrant. Butler was appointed by the governor to defend the state's action. In the circuit court two weeks ago Attorney Aylward protested against Butler's appearance in the case on that ground. Aylward contended at that time that it was an action against Gov. McGovern as an individual and not as governor. Judge Stevens in his opinion did not pass on this feature of the case although the matter was urged by Attorney Butler.

Attorney John A. Aylward has high hopes that the legal doctrine in the case of Ward vs. Sweeney may be reversed in the highest court. He said that there are so many elements in the Ekern case different from the Ward case that he was justified in making an appeal on that ground. Judge Stevens' decree was based on the doctrine laid down by the majority of the court in that case.

TO SAFEGUARD THE STATE INVESTORS

Bosshard Introduces Bill to Prevent Sale of "Wild Cat" Securities

CREATES A CORPORATION BOARD

Concerns Planning to Sell Stock Must Prove Reliability to Get License

(From Tribune Madison Bureau.)

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—The wiping out of "wild cat" speculations and the safeguarding the interests of Wisconsin investors is provided in a bill to be introduced in the senate tonight by Senator Otto Bosshard of La Crosse.

The bill proposes an effectual check in this state on the activities of corporations, investment in which may mean financial loss to Wisconsin people, and a strong corporation lobby is expected against the measure.

Creates Corporation Commission.

A corporation commission is created to consist of the secretary of state, the commissioner of insurance and the commissioner of banking, who, without additional salary, shall keep track of the activities of every corporation, company, co-partnership or association organized or intending to organize in the state of Wisconsin. Foreign corporations seeking to do business in this state must come under the regulations provided in the Bosshard bill.

Before offering or attempting to sell any stocks, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness in this state the concern is required to file with the corporation commission a statement showing in full detail the plan upon which it proposes to transact business. To safeguard interests of possible investors the companies are also required to file a copy of all applications for and forms of contracts, securities, bonds, or other instruments which they propose to make or sell to their subscribers.

That investors may have something more tangible upon which to place their judgment than the representations of the stock salesmen, it is provided the concern seeking to do business in this state must file a complete financial statement, as well as an itemized statement of the amount of its properties and liabilities.

The flooding of the state with literature booming wild cat schemes is also prevented by a provision which provides that the pamphlets and advertising of the company shall first receive the O. K. of the corporation commission.

Curbs Boosters' Commission.

Promotion of a scheme by prominent citizens who receive a commission for whatever booming they do for the sale of stocks or securities is curbed by a section which provides that this shall be explained in the contracts. In other words, if a man makes an investment on the advice of a friend the fact that the friend is getting a "cut" out of the proceeds is made known to the investor.

If the corporation commission is skeptical as to the accuracy of the filed statements of the concerns it is empowered to investigate the affairs of the companies.

Fine or imprisonment, or both, are provided for any violation of the law by any agent or officer of the company, the fine not to exceed $500 and the imprisonment not to be more than one year in the county jail.

SCOTT AND COMPANIONS IN BRITISH POLAR DASH ARE REPORTED DEAD

EXPLORER REPORTED DEAD IN ANTARCTIC

CAPT ROBERT F SCOTT

Amundsen Doubts

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 10.—That he is not prepared to believe the report authentic was the statement of Captain Roald Amundsen, who arrived here this noon and learned for the first time of the reported disaster to the Scott expedition.

"This must be a big mistake," said Amundsen. "I do not see how it could be possible for the whole party to have perished because some of them must have been near the source of supplies. A blizzard near the south pole does not necessarily mean much because they were prepared for it. I want a little more time to think this over. As yet I am not prepared to believe it."

"Frightful," Says Peary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—"A frightful and unexpected catastrophe," was the shocked comment today of Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole, when shown United Press dispatches detailing the fate of Captain Robert F. Scott. The explorer was ill in bed, following an operation, but manifested great sorrow at the reports.

AMUNDSEN'S RIVAL DIES IN ANTARCTIC

Captain Scott of England and All of Party Are Found Frozen by Relief Expedition

PERISHED AFTER REACHING POLE

Caught in Blizzard When Near Base of Operations During Return

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Central News agency today published a dispatch from Wellington, New Zealand, that Captain Robert F. Scott, the Antarctic explorer, and all his party perished in a blizzard, near McMurdo bay. Scott did not die until after accomplishing the object of his perilous trip.

From records found with the bodies of the party, it was shown that Scott reached the south pole on January 18, 1912. They were overtaken by a blizzard and on their return died before they could reach shelter. The agency therefore was in close touch with the relief expedition set out December 14 from Christ Church in the steamer Terra Nova to look for Scott.

Was Gone Three Years

Captain Scott had been in the Antarctic nearly three years. The last message from him was received in April 1911, when Lieutenant Pennell, commanding the expeditionary ship Terra Nova, returned to New Zealand bringing word that Captain Scott, with a party of five men, was 150 miles from the south pole and was pushing on. He sent back word that he would remain another winter in the Antarctic to complete his work.

Captain Scott's expedition sailed in July, 1910. When the Terra Nova, with Scott and twenty-five men aboard, coasted along the great ice barrier that had hitherto been deemed impregnable, another and smaller ship was sighted, fast in the ice. It proved to be the Fram, with Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian, nine men and 116 sledge dogs aboard. The Englishmen then learned that they were in for a thrilling race to the pole.

Traveled Heavy

Scott's party landed at McMurdo sound and spent the winter of 1910-11 breaking trails and establishing bases of supplies for a spring dash toward the pole. Scott's arrangements and equipment were costly and intricate while the Norwegian traveled light and relied on speed and good luck to carry him to his goal and back.

Amundsen's luck held and the prize of the south pole became his. He returned from Antarctic months ago and has since been heard on the lecture platform.

When Scott sent back word last April that he intended to remain another winter in the Antarctic, the brave Englishman and his little party were on a plateau 9,000 feet above sea level. The men with him were:

Dr. Wilson, chief of the scientific staff; Captain Oates, Lieutenant Bowers, commissary officers, and Petty Officer Evans.

Five Thought Dead

The latest dispatch from New Zealand indicate tonight that Captain Scott and the four men who made the final dash to the South pole with him in January, 1912, were the only ones who perished. The earlier messages to the effect that Scott and his "entire party" were dead were believed to have referred to the "flying squadron" of five that set out January 4, 1912, from their last base of supplies, 150 miles from the pole. It is believed that after reaching the pole Scott and the four men with him were overwhelmed by a blizzard and their bodies found by other members of the expedition who had been left behind at the various supply depots on the trail.

The bodies of the brave little band of ice fighters were brought back over the trail on sledges, it is thought, and kept at the main winter camp on McMurdo bay until the arrival of the Terra Nova.

Sixty-six Dead.

OAMURU, N. Z., Feb. 10.— Captain Robert Scott, before he perished, reached the exact spot at the South pole that was reached by Capt. Roald Amundsen. Documents found on the bodies of the Scott party, according to wireless messages received here today showed that Scott found the Norwegian flag Amundsen had planted and also located the tent erected at the pole by the Norwegian explorer. The total number of dead in the Scott party is uncertain, but it is believed here that sixty-six sailors and scientists perished.

FORCED TO KILL AND EAT DOGS

Lecture Graphic Explanation of Journey Visualized by Motion Pictures

Modestly, without once using the personal pronoun "I," Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole, navigator of the Northwest Passage, yesterday told his story to two audiences at the La Crosse theater. Helped out by the modern invention of motion pictures the noted explorer's lecture was a most vivid recital of the journey to the world's last unseen spot. With numerous photographs, wonderfully colored, as well as two reels of motion pictures depicting the actual life of the explorer's party at the southernmost tip of the globe, the complete story of the journey of the "Fram" was graphically told.

No Reference to Dangers

The bare simplicity of the narrative was its most engaging feature. There was no reference to the dangers the hereoic five men who made the final dash to the pole encountered. Although the explorer made mention of the fact that at one stage of the journey it was found necessary to kill twenty-seven of the dogs and live upon their meat for four days, the audience was forced to imagine for themselves the stark necessity of avoiding starvation which made this sacrifice imperative.

Captain Amundsen seemed touched by this incident, as he related it. "We called the camp 'Butchery,'" he said. "Here twenty-seven of our brave companions gave up their lives. Though it had to be done we could hardly bear to do it."

Captain Amundsen appealed to his audience from the first. He appeared from the wings upon the stage in simple evening clothes, without an introduction. The house burst into applause at his appearance, and a moment later the outburst was resumed when the little daughter of Olaf R. Skaar stepped shyly upon the stage with a huge bunch of crimson carnations in her hand. The little girl was dressed in the Norwe-

BREWERY WORKERS TO ASK A RAISE

Unions Will Demand an Increase in Scale Before Signing New Contracts

AMOUNT OF RAISE NOT DECIDED

Bottlers', Teamsters' and Inside Workers' Contracts Expire April 1

With the expiration of their contracts with the breweries April 1, the brewery workers' union of La Crosse will ask for an increase in wages before signing up for the next four years. This is the decision of the brewery workers as the result of a series of secret meetings which have been held during the last two months. The question of the amount of the increase will probably be decided at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the brewery workers which will be held in the Centennial hall tomorrow evening.

The bottlers have decided to ask for a scale of $2.50 a day, which is an increase of twenty-five cents a day over their present scale. The present scale under which the teamsters are contracted is $18 a week and the inside brewery workers get $17 a week. The teamsters and inside men have been unable to agree on the amount of increase they will demand but they are practically unanimous in their opinion that they are entitled to a raise.

The membership of the La Crosse brewery workers' union is between three and four hundred and nearly two hundred belong to the bottlers' union. The present scale was decided four years ago as a settlement of a strike.

LAD ACCUSES NEW FRIEND OF THEFT

Viroqua Boy Says Shoes, Money, Overcoat and Companion Disappeared Together

Dismayed at the loss of his shoes, overcoat, three five dollar gold pieces and his newly made friend, Scott Lake, a farmer lad residing near Viroqua, last night hurried from his room in the Viroqua hotel, Second and Pearl streets, to the bar where he laid his troubles before the landlord. An hour later William Cochran, wearing the shoes and overcoat and carrying the gold in his pocket, was arrested by Detective Joseph McGrath.

At central police station Lake said he had come from Viroqua to have a good time and during the course of the afternoon became acquainted with Cochran. They later went to the Viroqua and he fell asleep. When he awoke he found that his shoes had been removed and Cochran had disappeared simultaneously with his money and overcoat. Cochran says he is from Washington, Pa. He will probably be arraigned before Judge John Brindley tomorrow.

GOPHER QUINTET IS OUT OF RACE

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 10.—Illinois eliminated the University of Minnesota in the conference basketball race here Saturday night by a score of 19 to 12. The game was the slowest of the season and both teams showed a lack of team work.

Lawler of Minnesota and Williford of Illinois were the stars of the contet. Hoffman and Whipperman showed flashes of form, but lacked consistency.

The battle between Hoffman and Lawler was the real feature. Lawler was held to a single goal. Minnesota lacked the services of Stadvold, who was injured at Lafayette Friday night.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— Bertie's Grandma Got a Lovely Valentine

Grandma Got a Lovely Valentine.

VALENTINE day is always an event to the children. Are there not pretty postcards and fancy valentines and parties to celebrate the day? Jack and Evelyn had been saving their pennies for a couple of weeks and counting up the little friends to whom they thought they ought to send valentines.

"And don't you mean to send any valentine to me?" daddy asked, pretending to be very anxious.

"Now," replied Evelyn, shaking a finger at him, "you know you mustn't know anything about it. Valentines are s'prises, and it won't be a s'prise if you are told."

"Very well," daddy replied meekly; "then I won't ask any more, but maybe you'll let me tell you a story about a little boy and his valentine.

"He was a very tiny boy, not more than four or five, and his brothers and sisters had been talking about Valentine day for weeks.

"The little fellow was very anxious to do just as they did. He had a whole quarter to spend, and he wished to send some one a nice valentine. When the older children joked about his sweetheart he opened his eyes very wide and blinked to keep back the tears, for he did not like being made fun of. When they went shopping little Bertie wanted to go with them, but they said they could not be bothered taking such a little boy along and that he would much better spend his money for candy.

"Bertie watched them as they went down the street, and grandma said, 'Never mind, dear; you and I will go shopping after while, and you can buy a nice valentine in the little shop around the corner.'

"When they reached the shop grandma said, 'Now I want to look at some patterns, so you choose your valentine over at that counter while I am busy.'

"Mrs. Sands, who kept the shop, waited on Bertie, and when he whispered his secret to her she nodded and smiled. Then she took down a big box of valentines, and after much whispering and giggling on Bertie's part he chose a valentine. Mrs. Sands wrote a name on the envelope and stuck a stamp on it just as grandma, having made up her mind about the pattern, turned to see how Bertie was getting along.

"The next day was Valentine's day, and when the postman knocked he had valentines for all the children. And, what do you think, grandma got one too! It was a lovely thing, all hearts and cute little cupids, and on it in gilt letters it said, 'To My Valentine.'

"And Bertie was so tickled that he danced up and down and cried: 'I did it; I did it, granny! You're my sweetheart!'

"And do you wonder that grandma hugged and kissed him so hard?"

WHAT'S THE USE OF BROODING

"If a thing is wrong we should not dwell upon the thought of it, or we shall soon dwell upon it with inverted pleasure. A man may have a flaw, a weakness that unfits him for the duties of life, that spoils his temper, that threatens his integrity, or that betrays him into cruelty. It has to be conquered; but it must never be suffered to engross his thoughts."

This was Robert Louis Stevenson's way of saying that it doesn't pay to brood. And there were many reasons why the gentle novelist, the real master of style in writing, should have brooded. But he was able by living up to his own precepts to exist happily despite the dread disease that wrecked his body and finally laid him low.

Dr. Samuel McComb of the Emanuel movement takes Stevenson's advice as the text of an interesting article in the February Harper's Bazar, in which he sounds a warning against brooding. Unhealthy brooding, says he, weakens and never strengthens the soul. The poor hypochondriac who is always concerned about his health magnifies slight ailments, believes that he is threatened with all sorts of bodily diseases, and by the sheer power of an undisciplined imagination, creates many of the symptoms of these diseases.

Physicians more and more are recognizing the mental influence in disease, and the most advanced among our doctors are physicians of the mind as well as of the body. They know that it is useless to feed a mother strong drugs if she is worried and sick at heart over the desertion or delinquency of her favorite child. They realize that all the narcotics in the pharmacopoeia will not bring a comforting sleep to the man suffering under the load of debt that can't be paid.

"One of the richest and most significant ideas in the modern study of human nature," says Dr. McComb, "is that of the unity of mind and body. This is the truth on which physiological psychology never tires ringing the changes. For every thought and feeling, however slight, there is a corresponding nervous event. The intertwinings of body and mind are of such complexity and delicacy that it is impossible to touch the one, however lightly, without also affecting the other. Everybody knows that the body influences the mind, for everybody has experienced at some time or other that a disordered stomach produces a disordered mind. So obvious are the effects in this region that dogmatic materialism has never been at a loss for powerful and apparently invincible arguments."

LA CROSSE SCHOOLS STUDY THE CHILD

New Orleans school children are to be studied systematically by experts, with respect to their capacity for education. Children who for any reason are "exceptional" will be selected by the school authorities and referred for individual examination to the psychological laboratory at Newcomb college of Tulane university.

According to the detailed plan of procedure evolved, in which parent, teacher, sociologist, physician and psychologist are to co-operate, the school teachers will take the first step in the examination. Following a systematic census of all the children, they will select from their classes those who appear to be backward, or vicious, or in any way "exceptional."

After the consent of the parent is obtained, the parent, with the child, will apply to the superintendent of public schools for his approval, and then to the chief medical inspector of the public schools for physical examination. The experts at the university laboratory will then study the children individually.

Through mental test, such as the "form-board" and the Binet tests, through knowledge of the child's family history and mode of life, obtained by a tactful social worker in close touch with the home, and through any other available source of information, they will seek to classify the child according to his mental needs and ability. After having the pupil under direct observation for some time, the psychologists will be able to determine whether he should attend the regular school, receive special training, or be provided for in some other way.

The whole purpose is to study the apparently exceptional child for his own welfare and that of the school and community, so that he may develop to the utmost such talents as he has, and, if possible, become a useful member of society instead of a social loss.

The idea upon which this movement is founded is not new. New Orleans merely has extended the practice. We have the beginning of it in the work of our school nurse and of the health department supervisory of the physical condition of school children. The other phase, relative to the "exceptional" child, Professor Benezet deals with through what is called the ungraded room. We have the ungraded room in several of our schools, and it takes care of the exceptional child more completely than does the New Orleans plan, because it provides for the exceptionally bright as well as the exceptionally dull pupil. Its work is done through personal attention given the unusual child by the teacher. That a child may go as fast as he can without being shackled to the progress of the average child; that a child need go no faster than he can, but may have that attention necessary to bring out the good that is in him—these are the things which the ungraded movement does for the extraordinary student.

Don't Mention It

A Scottish parson still on the under side of forty, was driving home from an outlying hamlet, when he overtook a young woman. He recognized her as the maid of all work at a farm which he would pass, so he pulled up and offered her a lift. Mary gladly accepted his offer, and they chatted pleasantly all the way to the farm gate. "Thank you, sir," she said as she got down. "Don't mention it, Mary. Don't mention it" he told her, politely. "No I won't," Mary obligingly assured him.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

I Don't Care
(With the usual apologies to Eva Tang.)

Let food go up, let prices soar,
I don't care.
Let ultimate consumers roar,
I don't care.
Let statesmen all go forth and battle
Upon the cost of hogs and cattle;
I listen not to their fiery prattle,
For I don't care.

CHORUS
I don't care,
I don't care.
I sit still and keep right cool;
I know my business and I'm no fool.
My wife's got a good job teaching school.
So I don't care.

Let other folks to their labors go.
I don't care.
Out in the cold and the sleet and snow.
I don't care.
Let others all get out and hustle
And swear and sweat and toil and tussle.
I never exercise a muscle.
For I don't care.

CHORUS
I don't care,
I don't care,
There's no use in workin', you'll agree,
When the rent and the grub and the clothes are free.
My wife makes enough for her and me,
So I don't care.

Let others satisfy ambition,
I don't care.
I'm satisfied with my ambition,
I don't care.
I would not elevate my station;
I do not seek emancipation.
All I want's my daily ration,
And I don't care.

CHORUS
I don't care.
I don't care.
I shake Dull Care with a snappy jerk.
I greet hard times with a happy smirk.
I love to see my dear wife work,
So I don't care.

Obeyed Orders

"Yes, sir, I've been a soldier, and once came mighty near being mixed up in a battle, and if it hadn't been for obeying orders of our old colonel who was a regular brick, I might be sleeping with my martial cloak round me now."

"Why, how was that?" asked a listener.

"Well, the enemy were in sight, and we were getting ready to go for 'em. I wasn't feeling the least bit comfortable, when all of a sudden up jumps the old colonel, on a stump, and shouts:

"'Now, then boys, up and at 'em! Strike for home and country?'

"Some of them—a good many, in fact—struck for their country, but I struck for home, and precious glad I am I did it!"—Weekly Telegraph.

Kitty's Questioning

A new family had moved into the house next door to the Smiths, according to a story told by Postmaster General Hitchcock, and little Kitty Smith was on the back porch of her own home cultivating the acquaintance of the little girl on the opposite porch.

"What's your name?" she asked.

"Florence," replied the newcomer. "What's your's?"

"Katherine," was the answer, 'but they always call me Kitty. The name of the folks that used to live here before you came was Jones."

"Our name is Thompson," said the new girl. "We came all the way from Baltimore."

'Our name is Smith," returned Kitty. "Say, you never met the Joneses, did you?"

"Oh, no," rejoined the new girl. "Not your Jones."

"They was just something awful for borrowing," volunteered Kitty. "They used to send over to our house three or four times a week to borrow coffee, sugar and things, and never paid it back. Say, you folks don't borrow like that, do you?"

"Oh, no," was the reassuring response of the new girl.

"She says they don't, mamma!" called out Kitty, turning around and facing the half-open door of the Smith home.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Wholesale Reckoning

The Farmers' Loan and Trust company, in common with many of the big downtown banks, serves luncheon to its employes at its own expense, in preference to having them go out for it. The officers have a table of their own, but the food is just the same.

"I wonder why it is,' one of the junior members of the executive staff remarked the other day, "that the employes of this company eat so much more than the officers. Ever notice that they do, Sam?"

"Yessah. Always do, sah."

"How do you make it out, Sam? What's the reason?"

Impossible

A celebrated Scottish divine, lately deceased, who had been ailing for some time, decided to consult Sir Thos. Fraser. After a careful examination Sir Thomas pronounced his verdict, and added, "You must go to Algiers or some winter resort on the Riviera." "Impossible," said the ecclesiastic, "I have too much work to get through." "Well," said Sir Thomas, "you must make your choice. It is—ah—either Algiers or—ah—heaven." "Dear me," said the patient, with a sigh; "then I suppose it must be Algiers."

A DIFFERENCE
It Paid This Man to Change Food

"What is called 'good living' eventually brought me to a condition quite the reverse of good health," writes a New York merchant.

"Improper eating told on me till my stomach became so weak that food nauseated me, even the lightest and simplest lunch, and I was much depressed after a night of uneasy slumber, unfitting me for business.

"This condition was discouraging, as I could find no way to improve it. Then I saw the advertisement of Grape-Nuts food, and decided to try it, and became delighted with the result.

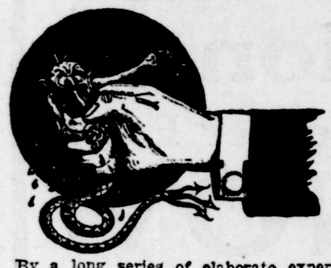

"For the past three years I have used Grape-Nuts and nothing else for my breakfast and for lunch before retiring. It speedily set my stomach right and I congratulate myself that I have regained my health. There is no greater comfort for a tired man than a lunch of Grape-Nuts. It insures restful sleep, and an awakening in the morning with a feeling of buoyant courage and hopefulness.

"Grape-Nuts has been a boon to my whole family. It has made of our 2 year old boy, who used to be unable to digest much of anything, a robust, healthy, little rascal weighing 32 pounds. Mankind certainly owes a debt of gratitude to the expert who invented this perfect food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interst.

Remarkable Catarrh Cure

Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gathering in Eyes, Noes, Throat and Lungs.

By a long series of elaborate experiments at the Swift Laboratory it is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antidotal remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation in less than an hour.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils and all scrofulous conditions. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. at your druggists.

SUFFRAGETTES STORM CLUBS

Simultaneously bands of militants attacked four exclusive clubs in Pall Mall, the Reform, the Oxford and Cambridge, the Carleton and the Junior Carleton. With chunks of lead stamped "Votes for Women" and brickbats wrapped in "Votes for Women" paper, the women broke out all the windows on the ground floors of the club houses.

BREAKS NECK—LIVES

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—In a temporary fit of insanity, Martin Burke, 39, stepped out of a second story window, early today and fell to the ground and broke his neck. He picked himself up and walked half a block before falling unconscious. He was taken to a hospital and was still alive at a late hour this morning.

THE FIRESIDE SERMON

By Lucius C. Clark, D. D.
Monday, February tenth, 1775.
St. Matthew 5, 16

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father, which is in Heaven."

Charles Lamb performed acts of personal sacrifice equal to any man. He tells of his delight as well as his manner of doing. "The greatest pleasure I know is to do a good action by stealth, and to have it found out by accident."

The Just and The Unjust

By Vaughan Kester

Author of The Prodigal Judge

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

Custer devoured the same books; but he never suspected his father of the crime of plagiarism, nor guessed that his choicest morsels of adventure involved a felony. Mrs. Shrimplin felt it necessary to protest:

"No telling with what nonsense you are filling that boy's head!"

"I hope," said Mr. Shrimplin, narrowing his eyes to a slit, as if he expected to see pictured on the back of their lids the panorama of Custer's future, "I hope I am filling his head with just nonsense enough so he will never crawfish, no matter what kind of a proposition he goes up against!"

Custer colored almost guiltily. Could he ever hope to attain to the grim standard his father had set for him?

"I wasn't much older than him when I shot Murphy at FortWorth," continued Mr. Shrimplin. "You've heard me tell about him, son—old one-eyed Murphy of Texarcana?"

"He died, I suppose!" said Mrs. Shrimplin ironically, wringing out her dish-rag. "Dear knows! I wonder you ain't been hung long ago!"

"Did he die!" rejoined Mr. Shrimplin ironically. "Well, they usually die when I begin to throw lead!" He tugged fiercely at the ends of his drooping flaxen mustache and gazed into the wide and candid eyes of his son.

"Like I should give you particulars, Custer?" he inquired.

Custer nodded eagerly, and Mr. Shrimplin cleared his throat.

"He was called one-eye Murphy because he had only one eye—he'd lost the other in a rough-and-tumble fight; it had been gouged out by a feller's thumb. Murphy got the feller's ear, chewed it off as they was rolling over and over on the floor, so you might say they swapped even."

"I wonder you'd pick on an afflicted person like that," observed Mrs. Shrimplin.

"Afflicted! Well, he could see more and see further with that one eye than most men could with four!"

"I should think your eyes would be confusin'," said Mrs. Shrimplin.

Mr. Shrimplin folded his arms across his narrow chest and permitted his glance to follow Mrs. Shrimplin's ample figure as she moved to and fro about the room; and when he spoke again a gentle melancholy had crept into his tone.

"I dunno but a man makes a heap of sacrifice he never gets no credit for when he marries and settles down. The ladies ain't what they used to be. They look on a man now pretty much as a meal-ticket. I guess if a feller chewed off another feller's ear in Mount Hope he'd never hear the last of it!"

"I started in to tell you how I put Murphy out of business, didn't I, son? The facts brought out by the corontr's jury," embarking on what he conceived to be a bit of happy and elaborate realism, "was that I'd shot him in self-defense after he'd drawed a gun on me. He had heard I was at Fort Worth—not that I was looking for trouble, which I never done; but I never turned it down when any one was at pains to fetch it to me; I was always willing they should leave it with me for to have a merry time. Murphy heard I'd said if he'd come to Fort Worth I'd take him home and make a pet of him; and he'd sent back word that he was looking for a man with two ears to play with; and I'd said mine was on loose and for him to come and pull e'm off. After that there was just one thing he could do if he wanted to be well thought of, and he done it. He hit the town hell-snorting, and so mad he was fit to be tied." Mr. Shrimplin paused to permit this striking phrase to lay hold of Custer's imagination. "Yes, sir, hell-snorting and so bad he was plum scairt of himself. He said he was looking for a gentleman who had sent him word he had two ears to contribute to the evening's gaiety, by which I knowed he meant me and was in earnest. He was full of bootleg whisky—"

"What kind of whisky's that, pa?" asked Custer.

"That," said Mr. Shrimplin, looking into the round innocent face of his son, "that's the stuff the traders used to sell the Indians. Strong? Well, you might say it was middling strong—just middling—about three drops of it would make a rabbit spit in a bulldog's face!"

It was on one memorable twenty-seventh of November that Shrimplin reached this height of verbal felicity, and being Thanksgiving day, it was, aside from the smell of strong yellow soap and the fresh-starched white shirt, very like a Sunday.

He and Custer sat before the kitchen stove and in the intervals of his narrative listened to the wind rise without, and watched the sparse flakes of fine snow that it brought coldly out of the north, where the cloud banks lay leaden and chill on the far horizon.

Mr. Shrimplin had risen early that day, or, as he told Custer, he had "got up soon," and long before his son left his warm bed in the small room over the kitchen, was well on his rounds in his high two-wheeled cart, with the rack under the seat which held the great cans of gasolene from which the lamps were filled. He had only paused at Maxy Schaffer's Railroad Hotel to partake of what he called a Kentucky breakfast—a drink of whsky and a chew of tobacco—a simple dietary protection against the evils of an empty stomach, to which he particularly drew Custer's attention.

His father's occupation was entirely satisfactory to Custer. Being employed by the town gave him an official standing, perhaps not so distinguished as that of a policeman, but still eminently worth while; and Mr. Shrimplin added not a little to the sense of its importance by dilating on the intrigues of ambitious rivals who desired to wrest his contract from him; and he impressed Custer, who frequently accompanied him on his rounds, with the wisdom of keeping the lamps that shone upon the homes of members of the town council in especially good order. Furthermore, there were possibilities of adventure in the occupation; it took Mr. Shrimplin into out-of-the-way streets and unfrequented alleys, and as Custer knew, he always went armed. Sometimes, when in an unusually gracious mood, his father permitted him to verify this fact by feeling his bulging hip pocket. The feel of it was vastly pleasing to Custer, particularly when Mr. Shrimplin had to tell of strangers engaged in mysterious conversation on dark street corners, who slunk away as he approached. More than this, it was a matter of public knowledge that he had had numerous controversies in low portions of the town touching the right of the private citizen to throw stones at the street lamps; to Custer he made dire threats. He'd "toss a scare into them red necks yet! They'd bust his lamps once too often—he was laying for them! He knowed pretty well who done it, and when he found out for sure—" He winked at Custer, leaving it to his son's imagination to determine just what form his vengeance would take, and Custer, being nothing if not sanguinary, prayed for bloodshed.

Send for The Cook's Book By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill It's FREE

Our instructions to the famous editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine were: "Get up a book of recipes of the things people like best. Find the best way to make and bake each one. Then write it out so plainly that even an inexperienced housewife can't have a failure."

"The Cook's Book" was the result. Some of the 90 recipes were originated, many of them were improved upon, and all were personally tested by this best known authority on cooking in America, and she tells so clearly how she made everything that one cannot go astray.

While some of the cakes and pastry are elaborate enough for any occasion, the recipes are all thoroughly practical and call for no expensive and unusual ingredients. In addition to telling how to make them, the book is beautifully illustrated in colors showing how to arrange and serve the dishes appetizingly.

More than half a million of "The Cook's Book" are now in use in American households. Yet the demand is constantly increasing. Many send for two or three at a time to give to friends or young housekeepers. Don't depend on borrowing one from a neighbor—have one of your own.

About Ordinary Safes

The fire-test of the great San Francisco conflagration in April, 1906, demonstrated two things to a certainty:

The ordinary, so-called fire proof safe is "safe" only in ordinary fires.

Safe-Deposit Vaults with solid foundations and over-head protection will withstand the hottest fire.

The ordinary safe may do for some of your papers—but your papers of value—the ones you could not well replace — should be stored in a safe-deposit box in our vaults.

Cost is nominal. Security is sure.

NEW MAN HEAD OF LA CROSSE DIVISION

J. A. MacDonald Promoted to Superintendency on the Milwaukee Road

J. A. MacDonald, for seven years superintendent of the Kansas City division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, with headquarters at Ottumwa, Ia., has been promoted to the superintendency of the Northern and La Crosse divisions of the same line, and will make his headquarters in Milwaukee. Although a comparatively young man, Mr. MacDonald has had twenty-five years' experience in railroad work.

On Aug. 4, 1887, the youthful MacDonald entered the general offices of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul at Chicago, in the accounting and auditing department. In 1901 during the summer season, he was sent to Aberdeen, S. D., by the company as traveling freight and passenger agent. He was given charge of the traffic on the James River and the H. and E. divisions and was later elevated to division freight and passenger agent for the road at this point.

Mr. MacDonald was on the ground when the extension of the line was made from Bodwie to Evarts and from Eureka to Linton. At that time Eureka was one of the largest primary wheat stations in the whole west and farmers hauled their wheat to the numerous elevators there for a distance of eighty miles. He was also familiar with the line from North McGregor to Chamberlain on the I. and D. division and with the I. and M. division, having charge of traffic on each, for in 1903 he was transferred to Mason City as division freight and passenger agent.

The following year he was sent to Mendota, Ill., as superintendent and general agent for the Rochelle and Southern division. While in that post the company opened up the coal fields, and among the mines was the ill fated Cherry mine. The extension to Oglesby, where the cement works is an immense industry, was built during his incumbency on the division.

NORTH SIDE CAR STRIKES CARRIAGE

Three Occupants of Rig Escape Injury in Smash on the Causeway

A carriage crossing the Mill street causeway was struck by a southbound street car at about 7 o'clock last night. The vehicle was badly damaged and the horses injured, although the occupants of the carriage were uninjured.

A. T. Halm, Spring Grove, Minn., another man and a woman were in the carriage. According to Claud Donahouer, motorman, and N. Hunt, conductor, who were in charge of the car, a mist hung over the track, which obscured the bridge and the carriage. Donahouer says he was traveling at a slow speed.

The carriage belonged to Palmer's livery barn. The passengers lifted the carriage off the track. The occupants of the carriage would not give their names, with the exception of Halm.

WAKE ENTHUSIASM AT SPECIAL SERVICE

The several pastors who are conducting a series of special services at the Tabernacle Baptist church were greatly encouraged last Sunday evening when the large congregation evidenced a marked interest in the work the ministers are endeavoring to do.

The sermon preached by C. R. Bearmore was inspiring, and Mr. Bearmore's singing, and that of the chorus choir conducted by Rev. J. W. Witter added much to the enthusiasm of the meeting.

Rev. M. E. Frazer, pastor of the Caledonia Street M. E. church will preach the sermon this evening. The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 with a song service.

"During an anti-fly campaign," writes E. K. O. to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "one of the teachers in our public schools urged the children to bring in all the flies they could capture. The reward was to be ten cents a pint. On the following day the schoolmarm was astonished to get this question from one of her small charges: "Teacher, we ain't got no flies at out house. Will bedbugs do jest as well?"

NOBODY CAN TELL IF YOU DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

Druggist Says When Mixed With Sulphur Prevents Dandruff and Falling Hair

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded their beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching, and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's."

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur;" it surely helps folks appear years younger. O. T. Erhart, agent

How To Stop a Cough

Something Every Mother Should Know

Every mother should watch over the health of her family as jealously as she guards the family morals. At the first symptom of a cough or cold, shake together in a large bottle a couple of ounces of glycerine, half an ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine and about half a pint of pure whiskey.

Give the patient a teaspoonful of this simple and harmless remedy every four hours. The first dose almost invariably brings instant relief, and the cold is generally expelled from the system inside of twenty-four hours. A supply of this medicine should always be kept in the medicine cabinet to prevent the development of serious infections of the throat and bronchials.

You probably have the glycerine and whiskey in the house already, and you can get the Virgin Oil of Pine at any drug store. To insure freshness and purity insist on having the half-ounce vials which come in sealed wooden cartons bearing the label of The Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.—Advertisement.

WELL KNOWN MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 10.—As the result of a threatened nervous breakdown, which is believed to have temporarily unhinged his mentality, Walter W. Wallis, manager of the Milwaukee branch of the Goodyear Rubber company, superintendent of the Sunday school classes in Park Place Methodist Episcopal church, and Y. M. C. A. worker, took his own life by hanging in the basement of his home at 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. Wallis arose shortly before 6 o'clock and, as was his custom, went to the basement to attend to the furnace. Not having returned at 7 o'clock search was instituted by Mrs. Wallis, who discovered the dead body of her husband suspended from a rafter. It is thought he had been dead for about an hour.

ENGLISH FIGHTERS LAST LONGER THAN AMERICAN; OFTEN STICK FIFTEEN YEARS

Freddie Welsh (ieft), Johnny Summers (upper right), and Owen Moran.

A glance at the careers of American and English boxers shows that the pugs of John Bull's country last longer than do ours. It is no unusual thing for an Englishman to remain in the game fifteen years. Johnny Summers, present welterweight champion of Europe, and Owen Moran have had thirteen years of fighting and are still in fine trim. Jem Driscoll and Digger Stanley entered the ring in 1910. Freddie Welsh took up the sport in 1905, and could give Willie Ritchie a good argument today.

The majority of our American boxers, on the other hand, are through after seven or eight years of the ring. Bat Nelson, who has been in the game 17 years, is the one shining exception.

WOMAN TAKEN ILL CROWD IS HELPLESS

A congestion of shoppers at Fourth and Main streets when Miss Myrtle Arbouck was seized with an epileptic fit Saturday night caused the suspension of street car and vehicle traffic nearly a half hour.

Upon leaving the Park Store Miss Arbouck was stricken with epilepsy and sank to the ground helpless. She was lifted to her feet and hurried from the store by a couple of women. Hundreds of persons crowded around the helpless woman, who unable to stand was held up by her two friends for nearly ten minutes.

She was finally half dragged and half carried aboard an east bound street car but her condition becoming worse the car was allowed to remain standing while all remained inactive, curiously staring at the stricken woman.

Police and street car officials seemed unable to cope with the situation and for fifteen minutes the woman remained in the crowded car without any medical assistance.

She was finally removed from the car by conductors from other cars and turned over to a patrolman who with the assistance of several women managed to remove her to Hebberd's drug store. Here she received the attention of a physicion, Dr. F. R. Weston being attracted to the scene by the crowd. She partially recovered before she was taken home.

STEPHENSON SHOWS $1,500,000 DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Senator Isaac Stephenson, reputed to be the wealthiest man in the senate, aroused interest among senate employes recently by displaying a draft for $1,500,000. He had received the draft in payment for timber lands sold to a Louisiana corporation. It is the largest piece of "paper money" seen in the senate since Senator Davis of West Virginia once displayed a $7,000,000 draft, the price of a railroad.

WANTED MAN ROBS MANY AND ESCAPES

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Robert Webb, wanted by the Chicago police for killing an officer, played a joke on the bluecoats last night when he committed half a dozen hold-ups in the vicinity of the Fiftieth street station, where he is well known. The alleged auto bandit secured over $500 worth of loot in his raid. Every one of his victims this morning identified his picture, but the police cannot catch him.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Demand that Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh submit at once to the senate a full and complete explanation of Treasury Order No. 5," which Rudolph Spreckels, the San Francisco banker, has charged would effect a revolutionary change in the government's financial relations with banks, was made in a resolution introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Poindexter of Washington.

AMUNDSEN MODEST I NTALE OF DASH

gian national costume. She made a difident curtesy to the great man, who smiled and bowed to the little lady as he received the bouquet and shook hands with the giver.

The captain opened his lecture with a brief recital of what he intended to tell and the first picture, showing Fridtjof Nansen's exploring steamer "Fram," was thrown upon the screen. Captain Amundsen said the steamer was the only one in the world that was ever built expressly for combating ice.

Dogs Prospered on Ship

The pictures showed scenes on the vessel and a glimpse of two of the quarters. The ship seemed to be alive with dogs. Captain Amundsen said he encountered some derision from friends in Norway before his start, because if his intentions to carry the dogs across the equator. They were Eskimo dogs, and it was thought they would die in the heat. However, the captain said, though they started with 97 dogs, winter quarters in the Bay of Whales found them with 116. He proved it by exhibiting several pictures of puppies born on the vowyage.

Captain Amundsen explained why the spot for the permanent station was chosen in the middle of the northern edge of the great ice bearier which obstructs the path to the pole. He said the Japanese and the British expeditions had pre-empted the places on either side of the barrier, and that he chose the center in order not to interfere with them in the slightest.

The construction of the house in which the winter was spent was intensely interesting, especially the pictures which showed the appearance of the house at the various stages of the winter. When first built it stood on top of the snow, but before April was over only its chimney and a small portion of one end of the roof was visible. To eke out space in the hut, snow rooms were dug in the huge drifts beside it, and connection made by means of passages. Thus the winter quarters became really a large apartment of caves in the snow, with the one-room hut the nucleus.

Captain Amundsen then briefly described the location of depots with provisions along the route to be pursued, and the subsequent impatient wait for the return of the sun in the spring. He passed rapidly over the hardships of the 150 mile dash to the pole.

No Sleep Night Before

"The night before we finally reached it," he said, "none of us slept very well. The same thought was in the minds of all of us. Breakfast next morning was hasty and scant, and we were under way early. We eagerly scanned the snow plains around us for signs of our competitors, and we were immensely relieved and overjoyed when we came to our goal and found the waste of snow unbroken."

Captain Amundsen described the precautions taken by the expedition to make sure they had reached the right spot, and declared that they spent four days at the pole, taking observations day and night to make sure. The pole was marked by a big Norwegian flag, and a small tent carried by the party was erected on the spot as a marker.

Shackleton Scouts Tale

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—"I consider it most unlikely that Captain Scott is dead. I was reported dead on one trip, so was Amundsen," declared Sir Ernest Shackleton today when he heard the stories of the disaster to the Scott party.

Shackleton led an expedition 100 miles nearer to the south pole than any other explorer had been able to reach in 1907-09.

"At all events, I do not think Captain Scott died in a blizzard," said Shackleton. "It is practically impossible to die in a blizzard, if one is equipped against it. I shall not believe that Captain Scott has perished until I hear something more definite."

MONTENEGRO TAKES IMPORTANT POSITION

Capture Bardanoli Overlooking Scutari; May Reopen Peace Negotiations

CETTINJE, Feb. 10.—The war office today stated that the Montenegrins under King Nicholas and Prince Peter had captured Bardanjoli, a most important position dominating Scutari. The place was taken only after fiercest fighting on both the Turkish and Montenegrin side, that lasted from early Sunday until early today. It was predicted that Ccutari would fall with this victory.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs held a long consultation this afternoon at the foreign office with the Turkish ambassador and a news agency published a report that Hakki Pasha would come to London within the week and request the allies to reopen peace negotiations.

MUTINY CAUSES REBELS' VICTORY

head of the few loyalists, met the first onslaught and drove off the attackers. In all there were four such clashes throughout the day.

Madero at the head of his little band, thought that the revolution was over when Reyes was seen to fall. The aged general was the foremost military man of the republic. He was tremendously popular with the army, and it was that popularity that won him the respect, not unmixed with genuine fear, of former President Diaz. The former president sent Reyes to Europe on one occasion, and it was rumored that his "mission abroad" was practically exile because Diaz thought he was too popular.

But the fall of Reyes did not check the rebels for long. Soon they were back again and the ministers persuaded Madero to quit his horse and take refuge in the palace.

Riots Accompany Battle

Rioting throughout the principal streets accompanied the military operations at the palace and for a brief time a reign of terror was feared.

In all, about 800 persons have been wounded in the fighting and rioting up to today, including several Americans.

Blanquet Deserts to Diaz

Gen. Blanquet, with a part of the force of 3,000 federals he was leading to this city, marched up near the national palace early today, and the commander quietly announced that he would not attack Gen. Feliz Diaz.

Madero's departure, which followed immediately, is taken to mean the end of his administration. Later in the day it is said Gen. Diaz will be proclaimed president.

Following the death of Gen. Reyes his son Rodolfo, overcome by grief, committed suicide. Reports prevalent in the city this morning said that Madero and his family were fleeing toward the eastern coast and it was expected he would try to leave the country as quickly as possible. Members of the cabinet were reported to have resigned.

The greatest anxiety prevailed today as to the action Diaz may take in summoning the troops under Zapata into the city. It has been said the Zapatistas have wrought the greatest havoc during the revolution against Porfirio Diaz, as well as Madero. If they are brought into the city a real reign of terror is feared. Their commanders, it is admitted, will not be able to control them once they see victory and a massacre might be expected to follow.

Federals Jain Revolt

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 10.—Mexican federal troops in the state of Chihuahua are raising the standard of Felix Diaz. Yesterday they were kept in ignorance of the revolt in Mexico City, but today they learned of Diaz' success, and most of them declared for him.

The federal garrison of Juarez, numbering nearly 1,000, is still in ignorance and has not joined the revolt. Troops are kept closely confined in barracks. Col. Francisco Vasquez' command, remains loyal to Madero.

United States army men along the border believe that today is the crucial day in Mexico and some of them predict that the United States will be forced to intervene before the week is out. All the border troops are held in readiness for quick movement, it is said.

Story Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. — Full confirmation of General Felix Diaz's release from prison; his revolt against Madero, the fighting in Mexico City, and control by the revolutionists of practically the entire city, was contained in official dispatches to the state department today from the United States ambassador at Mexico City.

"WILDCAT" FERNS UNIQUE WELTERWEIGHT FIGHTER; DOESN'T CLAIM TO BE CHAMP

Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns.

Although Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns has one of the best records of any fighter in the welterweight class, and although he has as much or more right to claim the title in that division than any of the other boxers, he is unique in that he is the only welter of prominence in the United States who does not claim the championship.

Ray Bronson of Indianapolis, Tommy Howell of Philadelphia, Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, and "Sailor Billy" Walters and "Spike" Kelley of Chicago each claims the title; but Ferns and his manager, Jimmy Hurst, are content to rest on their laurels, and let the former's record speak for itself.

Not until the conclusion of the welterweight elimination series of bouts, now being conducted by St. Joseph and Kansas City promoters, will Ferns claim the title. By that time he thinks he will have defeated all the real contenders and will be justified in calling himself the welterweight champion of the world.

TO THE KNOWING ONES

Some people are good judges of a watch—a great many are not. To some a well known make bought by the dealer at a fire sale, or second hand, advertised at an odd low price seems to touch the spot. This is an easy trade to satisfy.

It is the discriminating buyer—the one who is wise enough to know best and will have it, that we wish to entertain at our counters.

Don't buy a watch as you would a load of potatoes. Buy it from an exclusive dealer who knows the inner secrets of its delicate mechanism, and would select one for you as he would for himself.

MASHER IS FINED $10

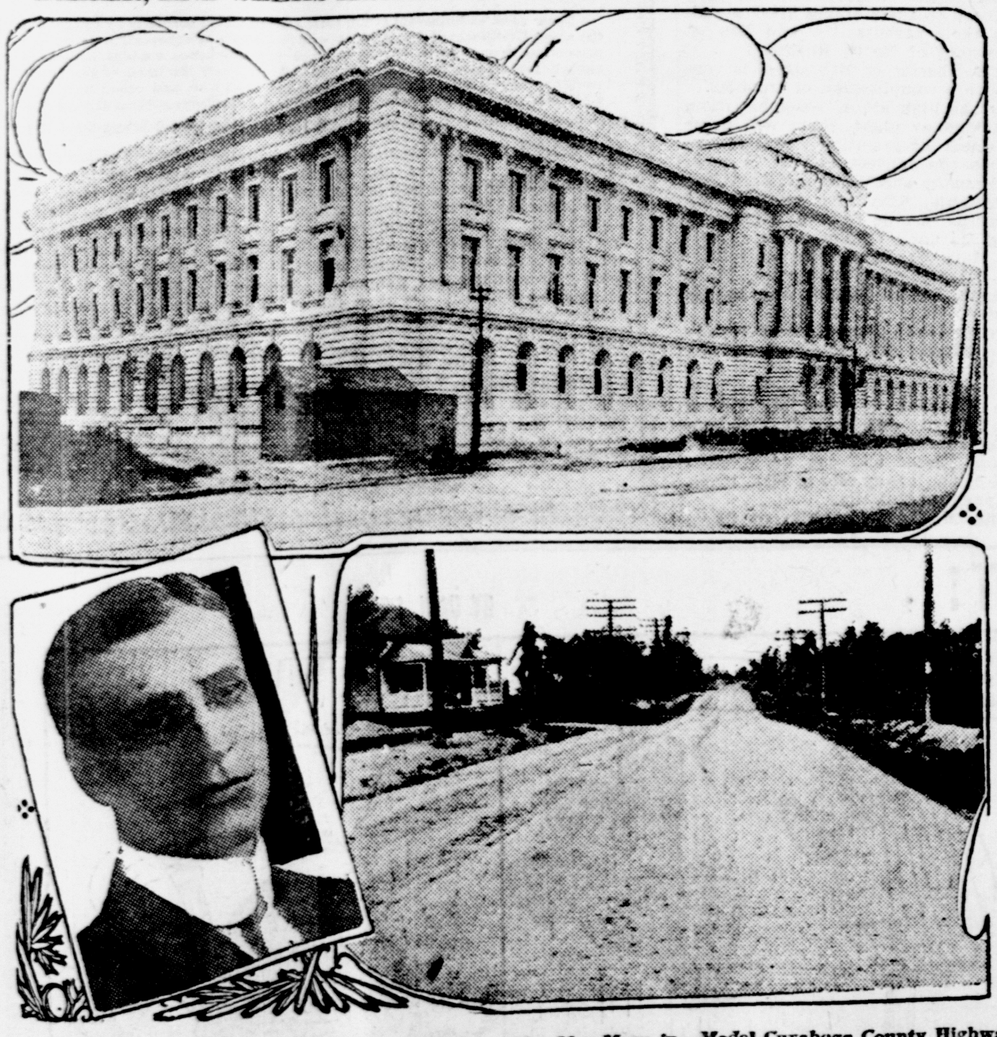

Clark Harris, whose case was called for the eighth time Saturday afternoon, was fined $10 and costs for violating the anti-mashing ordinance by Judge Edward Cronon. In consideration of his promise to procure employment in La Crosse and pay the fine as soon as he can earn the money he was given his liberty. He was arrested for addressing Mis Catherine Gundolf January 3. Hi case was called six times and dismissed as often because one of the attorneys failed to appear. The seventh time it was found that Harris had left the city. He was arrested upon his return a few days ago and his case brought to an end Saturday.

Mr. Lovell was awakened by the sound of falling glass about ten o'clock. Hurrying into the front room he found the window broken and a large rock lying on the floor. The revolver was gone. The police were notified but have found no trace of the robber.

STATE TOURNAMENT OPENED HERE TODAY

Dr. Douglas and Champion Clash in First Battle of Billiard Tournament

The annual state amateur billiard tournament opened at the Elks' hall at 4 o'clock this afternoon when Dr. E. W. Douglas of Appleton and A. J. Elmslie, present state champion met in a 300 point game. Dr. Douglas arrived this morning and was followed a few hours later by Mr. Elmslie. The other two non-local contestants will probably arrive tonight.

The table, one of the best that could be procured, arrived here from Milwaukee and under the direction of an expert was set up this morning. Contractor F. R. Schwalbe superintended the construction of a temporary grand stand which will seat about 200 persons.

The tournament will consist of ten games, four of which will be played Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon at four o'clock. One game will be played each night this week and the tournament will be brought to a close on Saturday.

Five prizes will be awarded, first, second and third and high run and high average. In addition to this a trophy will be presented to the winner of the tournament by the Brunswick, Balk and Collender company, which will be the property of the person winning three tournaments.

It is probable that a large number of ladjes will attend the tournament tonight as provisions have been made to reserve a number of seats for their accommodation.

Local billiard players entertain high hopes of a victory for C. H. Schweizer, the La Crosse cue wizard. Mr. Schweizer lost to Elmslie last year but it is believed that home playing will aid him in the present tournament.

Mr. Schweizer says that while his playing may not be as steady as the other contestants, he has every confidence in himself and hopes to put up a good exhibition.

MURRAY MAY BE MAYOR CANDIDATE

President of Grocers' Association Urged to Enter Race; Many to Run

That there may be four or five candidates for mayor or even more at the spring election was the gossip in political quarters today following the announcement that J. B. Murray, one time candidate for that position, is considering and may consent to enter the race. It is said that several of Mr. Murray's friends have been urging him to become a candidate but when asked about it today he maintained a non-committal attitude. Mr. Murray has long been a familiar figure in political circles in this city, having served as alderman for eight years and as president of the common council for four years. Sixteen years ago he was a candidate for the mayoralty against James McCord but the entrance of Dr. D. Frank Powell (White Beaver) into the race resulted in Dr. Powell's election.

Mr. Murray is president of the Grocers' association and is a member of St. Mary's parish. He belongs to several fraternal societies. He has always been a progressive democrat but was a staunch supporter of Judge John C. Karel at the last state election.

According to an announcement in an evening paper Saturday, Ori J. Sorensen has become a candidate and papers are being circulated for him. No announcement has been made of his platform.

Cards are being displayed in the windows of business houses about town announcing the candidacy of W. F. Adams for mayor. Although no statement has been made as to his platform he contends that he is the "young man's candidate."

John Dengler, the present encumbent, has not as yet announced his candidacy for re-election but it is the belief of his friends that he will come out in the near future.

Among the others who are being mentioned as candidates are John A. Elliott, Gus Kelier and William Torrance. It is known that there are a large number of business men in the city who favor John C. Burns and are making efforts to persuade him to enter the lists, but he has positively declined to permit the circulation of nomination papers.

Mr. Torrance has announced that under no circumstances will he become a candidate.

"CARO" IS "FIRST DOG OF THE LAND;" PRIVILEGED CHARACTER AT WHITE HOUSE

Helen Taft and "Caro".

By reason of his residence at the White house, "Caro," Miss Hele Taft's pet, should of course be considered the "first dog of the land." He is a privileged character at the White house, where he can be seen taking a walk or a nap in any of the historic rooms. Miss Taft cares for and mixes dainty dishes for this important "doggie," who is most carefully guarded.

BUSINESS MEN ELECT OFFICERS

T. J. Sullivan Chosen to Head McGregor Businessmen's Association; Work for Good Roads

MCGREGOR, Iowa, Feb. 10.—Fifty members of the McGregor Business Men's association were present at the annual meeting at Odd Fellows' hall Friday evening. Officers elected for the new year were president, T. J. Sullivan; vice president, M. X. Geske; secretary, F. S. Richards; and treasurer, J. A. Ramage. A Farmers' Institute and Road Building were the two chief subjects considered at the meeting. A one day's Farmers' Institute will be held at McGregor under the direction of the association the last of this month. A number of speakers from the Agricultural Extension department at Ames are to be on the program and a prize corn contest will be held in conjunction with the lecture course. The Women's Tourist club through its civic committee is co-operating with the Business Men's association in the giving of the institute. Work on home economics will be a part of the program.

In the matter of road building it was decided by the association to begin work early in the spring on the macadamizing of the half mile of the main road west out of town. The road is a part of the Old Military road to Calmar, on the proposed line of the North Iowa Pike and the best traveled highway in northeastern Iowa. An engineer was hired by the Business Men's association to survey the road last fall and arrangements were made with the county board of supervisors for a share of the county automobile license fund. The road will be stone surfaced and built in accordance with the most approved methods of permanent road building. It is the idea of the Business Men's association to begin construction at the logical starting place, the town limits, and proceed west as far as possible this summer, meantime arousing other towns to take up the matter in their vicinity.

Many a La Crosse Citizen Knows How Sure They are

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in La Crosse. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter. Read the following statement:

Mrs. Catherine Loth, 421 Vine St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "Three years ago my back pained me constantly and I seldom enjoyed a well day. When complaining of my condition, a friend overheard me and urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a supply at Erhart's Drug store and it was not long before I was free from backache and other annoyances. Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of the highest endorsement. I am still free from backache and kidney complaint. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills made this cure and consequently I am glad to verify all I said in their praise over two years ago."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

WORST STOMACH TROUBLE ENDED

"Pape's Diapepsin" gives instant relief and the relief lasts

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harfless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gasy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if y uohave heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia indigestion or any other stomach disorder.—Advertisement.

"GOLDEN RULE" TO GO IN CLEVELAND

Fred Kohler.

With the dismissal from office of Fred Kohler, Cleveland police chief, apparently a certain event of the near future, the "golden rule" policy advocated by this well-known police official seems doomed to pass away not only in Cleveland, but in other cities where it is being given a trial. It has been Kohler's policy to treat criminals, especially first offenders, with compassion. Just now Cleveland is being swept by a wave of crime and the "golden rule" policy is no longer regarded as safe by the citizens.

Lucile, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berg, is very ill with pneumonia, but the attending physicial believes chances are good for her recovery. Mrs. George Mrass, Mr. and Mrs. Berg's eldest daughter, who underwent a very serious operation at a La Crosse hospital several weeks ago, is now home at her parents' residence on Ferry street, much improved in health. At Plano, Ill., there occurred on January 28, the death of a former Rushford pioneer, "Uncle Abe" Hawkes, who was exactly ninety-two years of age the day of his death. Especially did he love and make friends with all wild animals and birds and at his little home near this city often had four and five squirrels and rabbits so tame as to come and eat from his hand. Mr. Hawkes was a veteran of the civil war and belonged to the G. A. R.

Rev. E. T. Quam, a former Whalen gentleman, died January 20 at his home at Rugby, N. D., aged 58 years. He was born near Stavanger, Norway, in 1855 and came to America when two years old with his parents, who located at Whalen, where the aged mother, now 92 years old, still lives. $2000 SUBSCRIBED

Ninety progressive men needed now. Last week I asked for 100 men to join me and subscribe $200 apiece to carry out the plan outlined below.

COME MEN

Let us add this free site for factories to our beautiful little city. This is your opportunity to be identified with this worth-while enterprise. YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS THIS CHANCE. Next week I will publish the subscription list.

Four blocks known as the Sawyer and Austin Mill Site, and fifty-one acres adjoining on the north, have been listed with me for sale. This property is located north of Gillette street, and is divided by Caledonia street. There are two railroads running through this tract of land, and street car within one block, making this an ideal factory site. This property can be bought for $20,000. One good factory located on this site will create a value for the remaining property, so that four blocks may be platted, and if sold at $300 per lot, will create a fund of $26,400, and there will still be 51 acres left for factory sites, which may be given free, as an inducement to any desirable factories.

Each and every subscriber is to hold an interest in this land to the amount of his subscription until such an amount has been returned to him out of the money received from the sale of these lots. It is understood that this agreement is not binding on any subscriber unless an amount sufficient to carry out this plan has been subscribed, and that when such an amount has been subscribed, each and every subscriber will be notified, and a meeting called for the purpose of organizing a holding company to take charge of this fund and make this purchase.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Lower Liverpool cables, rain in India and continued large world shipments hammered down grain prices today. Liverpool futures were quoted ¼ to ⅜d lower. Wheat May opened down ¼c and yielded another ⅛c by noon. July dropped ⅜c at the start and another ⅛c later. Despite a bullish Liverpool market, corn yielded to the general bearish influence. May deliveries opened down ⅛c and at noon were down ¼c more. July offerings opened down ⅛c and declined ⅜c by noon.

Oats opened firm and after the first hour declined with other grains, but toward noon recovered and sold up ⅛c for May and July.

Provisions dropped off heavily early but later rallied and marked gains were recorded all along.

BASEBALL TROUBLE UP TO COMMISSION

Giants Protest Against Giving 25 Per Cent of World's Series Money to the League

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—With the arrival of representatives of four leagues, this city today promised to be the real center of baseball activity. At the Waldorf-Astoria this afternoon, the national commission, the supreme court of baseball, will convene to decide several cases which have been troubling players and magnates. Garry Herrman, chairman of the commission, will preside.

The moguls of the American league met at the Hotel Wolcott to ratify its schedule for the coming season. There was a possibility that this meeting would be continued until tomorrow.

The National league will convene at the Hotel McAlpin tomorrow to ratify its schedule. The meeting will be a stormy one, as several of the magnates are dissatisfied with their opening dates.

Charley Ebbets is anxious to have Brooklyn's opening advance one day. The New York club's protest against giving up twenty-five per cent of its world series profits, will also come up for settlement.

The International league and the Eastern association, known for more than a decade as the Connecticut league, met at the Hotel Victoria.

MILWAUKEE NORMAL DEFEATS OSHKOSH

OSHKOSH, Wis., Feb. 10.—Milwaukee normal took the state title from Oshkosh here Saturday night, 21 to 15.

Milwaukee's superior team work and quick passing was too much for the Oshkosh men, who had beaten Ripon in an overtime game on Friday.

It was the second game Oshkosh ever lost on the home floor. Milwaukee now has a fine claim to the state normal championship.

WHITE SOX PLAYER MAY GO TO N. Y.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. — Frank Chance, manager of the Highlanders, was on his way to New York City, having left Chicago last night after a day of informal receptions here. Chance was not informed of the change in the time of the American league meeting until yesterday, he said, and had not arranged to get to New York until tonight, thereby missing the early part of the meeting.

Chance gave out none of his plans, except his intention of adding Joe Berger of the White Sox to his infield, if the deal can be put through.

"From what I saw of Berger and judging from reports of others, I believe that he is every bit as good as Buck Weaver," he said.

Along with the rest of his baggage, the former "P. L." carried a new mit and a pair of baseball shoes. He exhibited those as evidence of his intention to get back into the game at first, and said he expected to be able to stick it out.

BARNEY REILEY BREAKS RECORD

STOUGHTON, Wis., Feb. 10.—The American ski jumping record of 152 feet was seriously in danger of being broken when Barney Riley of Virginia, Minn., leaped 143, 146 and 150 feet in Saturday's tournament, which broke the hill record of 141 feet.

Oscar Gunderson, Chippewa Falls, Wis., won the professional event on a leap of 143 and 138 feet and 312 2-3 points, which is the highest number of points ever won in any ski tournament. Reiley took the longest standing jump contest on 146 feet and won sixth place in the professional contest.

FOND DU LAC FIVE AFTER U. S. TITLE

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Feb. 10.—Amid scenes of wildest excitement company E, Fond du Lac, defeated the New York Nationals, 43 to 23, in the first game of the series to decide the professional basketball championship of the United States.

Fogarty and Lapine, Company E forwards, each scored eight field goals. Hawkins, Company E center, played a remarkable floor game, holding his opponent scoreless. The blocking attack of the Fond du Lac guards baffled the visitors. New York was held to nine points in the second half.

COMEDY STARS TO REMAIN THIS WEEK

Rube Welch and Kitty Francis Will Stage Entirely New Show at the Majestic

Rube Welch and Kitty Francis, the two stars of "The Frolics of 1912," the classy revue that delighted La Crosse all last week, will continue to make laughs at the Majestic this week in an entirely new vehicle, a satire on "The Midnight Sons." Miss Francis and Mr. Welch were the stars of the latter piece for four years, and the satire is itself the work of Mr. Welch.

Judging from their bulky scrap book of press clippings, the new show is to be fully as entertaining as "The Frolics." It could hardly be any better, but with two stars like Mr. Welch and Miss Francis anything is possible. They have won a home for themselves in La Crosse and set a new record for class in tabloid musical comedy here.

The new show has two acts. One represents a rehearsal behind the scenes, with a number of vaudeville specialties. The other is a shoe store scene, with Kitty Francis holding the center of the stage as the laugh-getter-in-chief.

NORMAL CAPTURES GAME FROM WAUSAU

The La Crosse normal basketball team in a fast exhibition of team work defeated the Wausau Y. M. C. A., last Friday evening by a score of 27 to 21 and the next evening met their own defeat at the hands of Stevens Point normal by 27 to 24. Dahl made nine baskets in the first game and the entire team performed creditably. The Stevens Point contest was adverse to the locals but the score was in doubt until the last minute. However, a chance to retrieve will be given the La Crosse pedagogues when Stevens Point plays here. Glassbrenner made his first basket this season in the Wausau contest. Line up of the locals was: Forrest, c.; Glassbrenner, rg.; Griffin, lg.; Rand, rf.; Dahl, lf.

HOCKEY MAKES BOW AT U. OF WISCONSIN

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 10. — It looks as though hockey had finally come into its own at the University of Wisconsin with the recent completion of a new rink on the lower campus. During the recess between semesters the hockey rink has been tried out by a large number of enthusiasts, and it is expected that by Monday, after university exercises are resumed, that definite steps will be taken to organize several teams. Nitchie Cheeman, the water sport lovers' club, is to be represented by a seven, and it is probable that arrangements will be made for a match between the Nitchie Cheeman team and one of the Milwaukee organizations.
